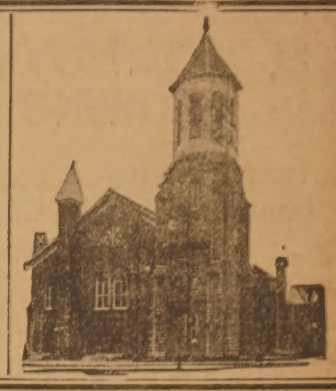
THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH---Tuesday, Oct. 9th 1928



PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ADDITION IS READY

Historical Sketch Of The First Presbyterian Church

PUBLIC WILL INSPECT NEW COMMUNITY HOUSE

Reception Planned For Tomorrow Night From 8 To 10 O'Clock—Old Chapel Redecorated.

Dedicated with simple but impressive services on Sunday, September 30, the new Bible school building and parish house of the First Presbyterian church, Church and Ontario streets, will be opened for public inspection on Tuesday evening, October 9, when a general reception will be held between the hours of 8 and 10:30 o'clock.

Located on the south side of the old structure, the new addition is 80 feet square and adds approximately fifteen thousand square feet to the floor space of the edifice. It is two stories high and is built of gray brick with ornamental limestone trimming about its many large windows. The construction took fourteen months and cost $75,000.

Colonial In Style.

The architecture of the new building is colonial in style, enhanced by a deep lawn and large shade trees which partly conceal the front of the building from view It faces on Church street and the spacious lawn has been graded and rolled in preparation for next spring when it will burst forth with a velvet carpet of newly sown grass.

A broad cement sidewalk along the south side of the church proper leads to the entrance which is built into the side of the new addition and is lighted by a large electric lantern of colonial style. Three oak doors with large plate glass windows, set off with small decorative colored glass shield designs divide the entrance from the main floor lobby and corridor.

Those who have watched the new parish house grow from day to day will naturally want to inspect the interior of the structure and ample opportunity will be given on Tuesday evening when everyone will be welcome to attend the informal reception. A string orchestra will play and the parish house will be decorated with many flowers. Refreshments will be served by the women's guild and the Boy and Girl scouts will assist in showing visitors through the building.

Contains Church Parlor.

Opening from a spacious corridor on the first or main floor is the church parlor, finished in panels of antique ivory with a large and homelike fireplace on one side. Adjoining the parlor is a cloak room.

The Primary and Beginners room, both large and commodious, are also located on this floor and are connected by a wash room. The primary room has tables, chairs and other equipment for one hundred children while in the beginner's room is a sand box, tables, chairs and other facilities for fifty little ones. Along one wall of each of these rooms is a blackboard, sections of which slide back and forth to act as doors to coat closets for the accomodation of the youngsters' wearing apparel.

The Scout room is on the west side of the building and is intended for boys and girls activities. Electric light sockets have been installed and this room may be used as well for a sewing room when occasion demands.

Fully Equipped Kitchen.

The kitchen is a great improvement over the former one and measures thirty-six feet long by eighteen feet wide. It is fully equipped for serving almost any number of persons and has a large hotel range with hood and electric fan ventilation to rapidly carry off the steam and excessive heat. Other kitchen equipment includes a steam table, coffee urn and electric dish washer.

On the second floor is located the library. The shelves which line the walls of this room contain approximately two thousand volumes of fiction and non-fiction books, including many of interest to readers of all ages. Four adult class rooms are found on the upper floor, ranging in capacity from 50 to 150 persons. The largest is the men's room which is attractively paneled and beamed and equipped with a fire place.

Provision is made for the Junior and Intermediate department in two long rooms, each of which may be divided by sliding partitions into eight separate class rooms. Each class room has a capacity of from fifteen to twenty persons. These class rooms are used each Wednesday for the week day Bible school, attended by children from the fourth to the eighth grades. On Sundays they are occupied by practically the same children who compose the Junior and Intermediate department.

The new pastors study is on the second floor and is separate from the church office which occupies the former pastor's study in the old section of the building.

Chapel Is Redecorated.

The old chapel and adjoining rooms have been redecorated and will serve as the Young People's department. Prayer meetings and banquets will be held in the chapel where there is space to serve from three to five hundred persons. Sliding panels on the south wall of the chapel connect the room with the kitchen and make speedy serving possible. The stage at the east end of the room has been enlarged and is available for small plays or pageants. The old primary department opening on the balcony has been subdivided into six class rooms and with the six on the main floor make twelve class rooms for young peoples' classes.

The engine room and heating plant are found in the basement. A vapor vacuum system with two boilers serves to heat the old as well as the new building. A men's wash room and a women's wash room are located in the basement.

The walls in the new part of the building are of tan sand finish while the woodwork is gumwood, stained dark walnut and waxed. The corridors are covered with battleship linoleum in dark and light squares with a black border. Tile floors are found in the rest rooms and vestibules. Some of the rooms have hardwood floors stained in oak.

Twelve Tons of Doors.

Twelve tons of birch doors inlaid with plate glass were used in the construction. The windows are all of casement type with steel frames. Colonial lantern lights are used in the halls while semi-indirect lighting rules in the class rooms. Other of the rooms have decorative bulbs and rosettes.

Perfect ventilation is assured by skylight roof and cupalo arrangement through which the air is drawn out of the upper story by means of electric fans. The skylight helps with the lighting of the rooms, as well.

The construction of the new building had been anticipated for several years, but the appointment of a building committee was not directed by the congregation, until the annual meeting in April 1926. Charles A. Upson, chairman, Matthew Collins, Fred D. Morris and E. Albert Rogers were chosen. Ground was broken and the construction began in July 1927.

The ground work was completed and the building was inclosed before cold weather but due to delays in securing material the building was not completed until last month when on Sunday, September 30, the dedication ceremony was held at the regular morning church services.

A half hour organ recital by Arthur T. Poole opened the dedication ceremonies. At 11 o'clock the children of the Sunday school marched into the church auditorium and were seated near the front. The Rev. Stewart M. Robinson, paston, delivered the dedication address in which he commented upon the growth and development of the church since its inception one hundred and five years ago. He cited that the building program had been necessitated by the church growth and that the congregation had responded nobly to the needs.

E. Albert Rogers of the building committee then presented the new parish house which was accepted by Robert E. Bryant of the board of trustees. Following a vocal solo by Mrs. Margaret Greer Kunz, the march into the new building began, the beginners and primary department leading the procession. The Junior-Intermediate, Young People, Church and Sunday school officers and congregation followed into the new building where prayer was led by the Rev. Mr. Robinson. The dedication was concluded with the doxology and benediction.

The reception Tuesday night will bring the opening activities to a close. The general committee arranged no set program but plans an attractive evening of good fellowship for everybody. Former pastors have been invited and the Rev. Anthony H. Evans of New York City as well as the Rev. Albert Evans of Washington, D. C., are expected. A general invitation is extended to every man, woman and child connected in any way or interested for any reason.

England has now about 1,000,000 war pensioners.

Many in cities of Cuba are investing their money in new houses.

Droughts in Jamaica this year caused great damage.

Salvador has a wave of corn speculation.

NEW PARISH HOUSE AND BIBLE SCHOOL

The new addition is located on the south side of the church [illegible] eighty feet square. In its two stories are contained approximately fifteen thousand square feet of floor space. The building will be used [illegible] parish house and Bible school and contains many desirable features such as a church parlor, scout room, kitchen, library and separate cla[illegible]ms for the various Bible school and week-day school departments. It was erected as a cost of $75,000.

PROBLEMS OF DAY ARE DISCUSSED BY PRESBYTERIAN MEN

Class Conducted Eight Years By John T. Symes.

Teacher Disagrees with Claim That Present Age Is One of Over Organization.

(By John T. Symes, Teacher, Men's Class).

This is an age of organization We may have too many organizations. I don't know. I think, however, we are not too highly organized. Organizations generally spring into being because of the needs of humanity. Certainly the get-together spirit has promoted acquaintanceship and better understanding. It has aroused sympathy and created interest in the welfare of others. Men's organization have come into particular prominence within the last twenty years. Clubs are almost without number and the interesting thing is that they continue. This indicates that they are accomplishing [illegible]its worth while. Busy men find [illegible] they can work more efficiently [illegible] more effectively by stepping [illegible]le from the routine at intervals [illegible]d touching elbows and exchanging [illegible]as with others.

[illegible]h churches organization has [illegible]ven to be quite as essential as [illegible]ewhere. We have not only the organization of the body as such under certain rules and regulations but groups have been segregated to take up particular work and study problems in which they may be especially interested. Men's classes in Sunday Schools are taking a rather prominent place and making quite valuable contributions to the general welfare.

Whether the Men's Class, so-called, in the First Presbyterian Church Sunday School was organized before, I am not aware. The first I knew of it was during the regime of the Rev. G. A. Papperman. The class was carried on most successfully, meeting most of the time in the body of the church after the morning service. When Mr. Papperman left the church and was succeeded by the present pastor, Rev. Stewart M. Robinson, I was asked to take charge of the class and was called a teacher. That title can hardly be claimed as accurate. Anyhow, whatever may be the right definition of my place in that organization, I have continued [illegible] about eight years. The associations of the men who meet with fair regularity are most delightful. Study is given to present day problems more or less common to us all, and the International Lesson or other passages of Scripture taken as the background. Frequently the subjects bring about interesting discussions in which all participate.

The loyalty of the class has been marvelous. The membership is quite substantial and on a few occasions one hundred have been present. Surely the class has been a real asset to the church and Sunday School. Their meetings have been of particular encouragement to the younger people. With the new equipment just opened, we will have a room dedicated especially to the work of the class. This room should make it possible to increase the membership and greatly add to the interest. There is always an effort to diversify the program and bring in as many speakers as possible. We have had a number in the last few years, including some of the outstanding men in the Rotary organization, such as one of the Vice-Presidents and members of the Board. Charles E White, of Belfast, Ireland, a member of the Board of Rotary International, addressed the class within the year. On the 14th of October it is quite possible that Paul P. Harris, the founder of Rotary, will be present and give a brief talk.

Men who are not attached to other similar organizations are always welcome. Entrance to the classroom from now on will be at the side of the church where one may drop in at 12 o'clock any Sunday and find a cordial greeting.

More Than Hundred Years Old Records Still Intact Show

Organized On January 23, 1823 Under Leadership Of David Smith, First Pastor.

By the Rev. Stewart M. Robinson, Pastor.

In the year 1800 there were less than fifty Presbyterian families between the Genesee River and Lake Erie and between Lake Ontario and Pennsylvania. There were no churches and no ministers. The War of 1812, however, drove many families eastward, away from the scene of hostilities, which, together with the constantly increasing tide of settlers moving into the western lands soon gave to this region of western New York a large increase in the number of its inhabitants. By the end of the second decade of the nineteenth century this region was well filled with people. At the same time there was a profound religious revival. In 1813 there were but thirteen churches in the Holland Purchase, but in 1823, the date of the formation of the First Presbyterian church, there were thirteen churches in the Niagara Presbytery, whose first meeting was held at Gasport in 1824.

The First Presbyterian Church of Lockport was organized on January 23, 1823 under the leadership of the Rev. David Smith of Lewiston. The first meeting of the church was held in a log school house on Park Ave. near where the Free Methodist Church now stands. A Sunday school was organized the same year with twenty three members. Before the close of the year 1823 a suitable meeting house was built where the Court House now stands. This was occupied until 1834 when the society moved into a brick edifice on the site occupied by the present church. In January, 1823 the meeting house on the old site was advertized for sale to the highest bidder, and was used for some years for a ladies' seminary, and later was moved to the site of the present West Avenue Park and there used as a carriage shop until destroyed by fire.

Incorporation of Church.

The church organized in 1823 became incorporated. Through some fault in the original certificate another instrument was drawn in 1827. The pastors of the church have been the following clergymen: The Rev. David Smith who started the church served it for a short time in connection with his charge at Lewiston. The Rev. Aratus Kent became pastor in 1825, William Curry in 1827, Joseph Myers in 1832, Gilbert Crawford in 1835, John Keep 1837, M. W. Fisher 1838, Timothy Hopkins 1838, (Mr. Hopkins served as stated supply).

The Rev. William C. Wisner became the pastor in May, 1842 and remained pastor of the church until 1875, when he retired. He remained in Lockport until his death in 1880. In 1875 Henry G. Miller served as stated supply and towards the end of that year the Rev. John N. Freeman was installed as pastor. The Rev. Maltbie D. Babcock succeeded him in 1882, the Rev. Anthony H. Evans succeeded him in 1889.

Since then the following pastors have served the church. The Rev. Benj. M. Nyce from 1896 to 1904, The Rev. Alexander McGaffin 1904-1909, The Rev. Albert Evans 1909-1914, The Rev. G. A. Papperman 1915-1920, and the present pastor, the Rev. Stewart M. Robinson, from July 1921.

Five former pastors of the church are still living. The Rev. G. A. Papperman is pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Decatur, Ill., The Rev. Albert Evans is retired from the active ministry. So also have Dr. Nyce and Dr. McGaffin. Dr. Anthony Evans is still pastor of the New York Church to which he went from Lockport.

Records Preserved.

The complete ecclesiatical records of the church have been preserved and are now in the possession of the church, stored in a fire proof safe. These records show every session meeting and church meeting since the organization in 1823. These minutes record, in addition to the spiritual concerns of the church, much interesting comment on current events, many fascinating sidelights on men and manners, and many bits of important information.

In addition to these priceless records of 105 years of the life of this church there is a large collection of minute books of the Board of Trustees, Treasurers' books and loose papers. One old leather bound hand-book contains on its fly-leaf what was evidently the notation of some church officer who was planning an "every member canvass" in 1858. He has jotted down the estimated expenses for the year 1858. The items run "Probable expenses for 1858" "W. C. W" which stands for William C. Wisner $1500. Sexton $150, Fuel $150, Music $300, Incidental expenses $50, Interest $500, making a total of $2800. The names of the subscribers follow. The amounts range from two dollars up to fifty. Eleven men are down for fifty dollars each. Those men were the Hon. Hiram Gardner, Willard Weld, George Keep, William Keep, J. D. Shuler, G. L. Douglas, L. F. Owen, William Pitch and others.

Planned New Church in 1853.

By 1853 two places of worship had been outgrown and the church was on the watch for the chance to once more extend its equipment. In January, 1853 we find the following minute in the Trustees' book of the church.

"Resolved; Due to the necessities of the Society for a new house of worship, that as soon as twelve thousand dollars shall have been subscribed by persons deemed by the trustees of the society to be able to pay, said trustees shall proceed and cause to be erected a new house of worship for this society upon the church lot or ground owned by the society at the corner of Church and Ontario Streets with a sufficient size and capacity for one thousand people."

The Trustees were further authorized to mortgage the property of the church to meet the balance due and when the building was finished they were instructed to lease pew space in the audience room to the families of the church, such leases to be renewable upon the payment of a certain fixed sum of money as assessment each year. The building committee for this edifice included, Hiram Gardner, S. F. Bowen, J. D. Shuler, G. W. Hildreth and William Keep.

Another little handbook carried a list of the subscribers to the new church, and the payments are recorded therein. At the back of the book is also a summary of the payments made to the stone mason and carpenter who put up the structure. This edifice seems to have cost in the neighborhood of $27,000 when it was all done and finally paid for. The steeple was added ten years later.

Out of the materials of the old brick church which was put up in the early thirties the old Sunday School was made. This was later torn down and in 1876 the present chapel was erected to house the Bible School and other activities of the church. In the 1834 church there were two floors, one up several steps, the other down two or three into a kind of semi-basement. In this church there was no organ, the music was furnished by three men who played a double bass, a viola and a flute.

One of the great celebrations of the church was held on an evening in May, 1872 when the church tendered to the pastor, Dr. Wisner, a reception on his completing thirty years as pastor of the church. A copy of the invitation is preserved which is signed by M. H. Webber, Thomas Scovell, George B. Wilson, and H. T. Chadwick, committee. A list of all the guests at that gathering is preserved in their original handwriting.

In 1867 the first organ was in-

WEEK-DAY CHURCH SCHOOL MOVEMENT GROWING RAPIDLY

Movement Started Six Years Ago Quickly Gained Favor With Churches And School Authorities.

Some six years afo the week-day school of religious instruction movement was advocated for Lockport by some of the far sighted pastors and laymen of the city. The Rev. A. L. Dillenbeck, former pastor of the English Lutheran Church perhaps, deserves as much as any one the honor of being the spokesman in behalf of this step. The Rev. John L. Peckham, of Christ Episcopal Church also assisted Mr. Dillenbeck. A very ready response was obtained from the various pastors. The petition which requested the Board of Education to allow the creation of this work was signed by every pastor and rector in the city without exception.

The united request from the churches met with an equally enthusiastic response from the Board of Education. Mr. Roy B. Kelley gave it his unqualified approval, and by his attitude and encouragement did much to help the actual formation of the various schools.

Attacked by Atheists.

A year or two later the whole movement was attacked by the Atheists, but they failed to win any comfort from the Court of Appeals at Albany when their case finally reached that tribunal. Every step had been taken in perfect order and consistent with the law. Local boards have power to allow certain extra activities in their communities in school time. Parents may make request that their children be excused. No public funds were used in any way. So when the decision finally came down, the movement was given an added stimulus.

The First Presbyterian Church along with other churches welcomed this opportunity and started out to make the best possible use of it. From the beginning the school conducted at the First Church prospered. Each year a larger number were enrolled. Every class that completed their work made a better record. The coustruction of the new building was carried out with this school especially in mind and the present organization of the Sunday School has given recognition to this important branch of educational work.

The church was most fortunate in securing the help of one of its members, Miss Lulu A. Specht, to act as Principal of this special school. Equipped in every way to handle such a work, Miss Specht took the work up from its beginning and drew around her a splendid corps of helpers.

The last report showed 209 scholars enrolled this Fall. New members come in each week. The school hour begins with the class work. Scholars go immediately to their rooms where their teachers meet them. Each class has its own text-book. The children are grouped according to their school grade. There are ten classes, one for boys and one for girls in each of the five grades included in the school.

Do Memory Work.

All classes do a certain amount of memory work which is recited in the assembly period at the end of each session. The text-books are a series of graded studies prepared especially for week-day school work by the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education. In the Fourth Grade the book used is "Jesus, the Light of the World;" for the Fifth Grade: "Following Jesus Day by Day;" for the sixth Grade: "Stories of the Beginnings," and in the second term, "Beginnings of a Nation" (History of the People of Israel); For the Seventh Grade the text is "God Revealing His Truth Through Patriarch and Prophet" and for the Eighth Grade "God Revealing His Truth Through His Son." This series gives a properly proportioned study of the entire Bible. It begins with the life of Jesus arranged in simple lessons. Then comes a course giving the elemental program of Christian life and conduct. The sixth grade then takes up the Old Testament history, taking first the story aspects, and then the personalities of prophets and patriarchs. The last year, the eighth grade once again turns to the Gospels but approaches them from the standpoint of a deeper effort to grasp the meaning. The whole together makes a well-balanced Bible study course.

The work of the day is closed with the assembly when the whole body of two hundred children gather for their brief devotions and hymns. At this time Scripture is recited, records of the day commented upon, special features noted.

talent was impressed into service. The old Lockport Journal gives an entertaining synopsis of the concert, for which one dollar admission was charged. Evidently those thrifty people were determined to pay for the organ as quickly as they could.

A Prof. Morgan came from New York and Prof. Everette Earl of Lockport assisted with a choir. The program had two parts and contained thirteen numbers. The audience is stated to have received this concert "with marked approbation and pleasure." Miss Mattie Hunting sang "Angels ever bright and Fair," this delighted the audience.

In 1898 during the pastorate of the Rev. B. M. Nice the church held a seventy-fifth anniversary which was a delightful occasion. Three pastors who had become very distinguished graced the celebration with their presence. Dr. Freeman had gone from Lockport West and then back to Cleveland. Dr. Babcock had gone first to the Brown Memorial Church in Baltimore, and then to the Brick Church of New York. Dr. Evans had a most remarkable opportunity to go to New York. These men returned and made most interesting addresses which were printed, and copies of them are still preserved. The Elders at that time were Ashley Smith, Thomas Scovell, B. Wheaton Clark, J. W. Brown, C. W. Randall, Edward, Hayward and G. G. Lansing. The Trustees were M. P. B. Cooke, Jesse Peterson, W. H. Upson, W. W. Storrs, W. E. McComb and A. R. Ferguson.

Sermon Copy Hangs in Church.

The church from the first secured and held a relatively large membership and exterted a dominating influence in the community. A copy of Dr. Wisner's sermon hangs in the back of the church which he preached on April 19, 1865 on the occasion of the great union service held in the First Church auditorium as the funeral train of President Lincoln was passing westward toward the place of burial. This copy was sent to Mrs. Hiram Gardner, the mother of Mrs. J. Carl Jackson by Dr. Wisner, and along with the sermon there is preserved the stamped envelope, addressed in the handwriting of Dr. Wisner.

Anti-slavery agitation caused some heated differences in the church just before 1840. A great revival conducted by E. P. Hammond brought over 200 converts into membership in the church at a single service. Once a piece of land was purchased on Washburn Street near South with the thought of constructing a chapel there, but the idea seems to have died out and the land was ultimately sold for a private residence. In the early nineties. Mrs. Hiram Gardner donated a piece of land on Ontario Street for the purpose of erecting a Chapel, which was built and still carries the Gardner name. From that day to this there has been a flourishing Sunday School there which has been of the greatest help to the general work and life of the church. For twenty-five years Judge William A. Gold has been the active head of the work there.

Had Steady Growth.

The steady growth and progress of the church has not ceased. The early portion of the twentieth century saw the steady advance of the church, and this culminated during the war in a new outburst of activity. Under the energetic leadership of the Rev. G. A. Papperman a large number of new members were gathered into the church. With the close of the first century of the life of the church the feeling was general throughout the congregation that the church deserved the best efforts of the present generation to keep up the records and traditions of other years. To this end steps were taken to redecorate and reconstruct the whole edifice. The audience room was refurnished with a new floor, steel beams were put in to replace the mighty timbers which the men of the fifties had laid, the organ was brought up to date so far as its action was concerned, and the beauty of its tone was retained. Finally, the growing needs of a generation, which has the blessings of week-day religious instruction, the full participation of our youth in the work of the church, the active social enthusiasm of modern people to do things which will help others has brought this new addition into being. It stands today ready and equipped to meet the needs of the present congregation in this present day and age. The frequent comment heard among those engaged in its erection has been to this effect, can we ever come near to being so far sighted in our building as those older folks were who built for us in other years.

The present membership of the church is something over thirteen hundred communicants and several hundred others affiliated with the congregation and Bible Schools. The Sunday School has an enrolled membership of approximately 650. The Week-Day Religious School enrollment is 209.

Baumes Commission To Meet In New York

ALBANY, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Baumes crime commission will meet in New York October 15 to consider the recommendation of Governor Smith for establishment of a tribunal for sentencing convicted criminals, the commission announced today. The tribunal would supplant the sentencing function of the trial courts.

The commission also will consider proposed legislation for the handling of the "loan shark" situation, the abolishment of some or all of the exemptions allowed for jury duty and other matters relating to the simplification of original procedure.

Reception Will Be Informal And Open To Everyone

Presbytery of Niagara and Pastors of City Have Been Invited.

The reception and open house planned for Tuesday evening, October, 9 1928, is to be informal. Between 8 and 10:30 o'clock everybody is welcome to come in, look over the building, and receive the greetings of the pastor, former pastors, officers and members. The Presbytery of Niagara has been officially invited and has instructed the moderator, the Rev. Gordon Newfang, of Lewiston to be present. Letters of invitation have been sent to the pastors of the city inviting them and their people. Many friends in the church and community who knew Dr. Anthony Evans and Dr. Albert Evans will want to give them greeting.

The Woman's Guild will have charge of the decorations, music and refreshments. Some of the boys and girls of the church will act as aides. All the church officers and their wives will be hosts and rostesses for the evening and will be glad to show friends the arrangements of the new addition.

All friends attending Tuesday evening are requested by the committee in charge to enter by the new doorway on Church street, and not by any of the Ontario street entrances. These Ontario street doors will be used as exits. The committee having care over the various arrangements for the evening comprises the following members of the church: Robert E. Bryant, chairman, Mrs. John Bishop Arnold, Mrs. Wellington C. Lake, Mrs. E. Albert Rogers, Fred D. Morris, John Tagg, Roy J. Chase and Charles A. Upson.

We are glad —that Lockport is blessed with such a force for good as the First Presbyterian Church.

—that they are extending their good work through the enlarged facilities of their new Sunday School building.

—that to us was entrusted the work of installing the electric wiring and the supplying of the specially designed fixtures that harmonize with such a splendid structure.

And we congratulate

—the city of Lockport upon the attainment of such a fine addition to its ever growing number of worthwhile buildings.

—the First Presbyterian Church of Lockport upon the selection of a building committee, the result of whose work stands as its own best endorsement.

—and the citizens of Lockport upon the fact that they must all benefit by the extension of community service made possible through this extension of the First Presbyterian Church's physical property.

Women's Association Does Much For Church

MRS. JOHN B. ARNOLD.

MRS. JESSE PETERSON.

MRS WALTER C. TIBBETS.

Closely interwoven with the activities of the First Presbyterian church is the part played these many years by the women of the church, those women, who shoulder to shoulder have worked tirelessly for the betterment of the church and whose efforts throughout the years have had much to do with the resultant splendid edifice as completed today.

Always among women, there has to be a guiding hand, one who combines the quality of leadership with human understanding, one who is gifted with executive ability and one who can hold the friendship and devotion of those she leads.

Such a one is Mrs. Jesse Peterson, who has been the outstanding director of the women's work for the past twenty-five years, a president of the Women's Association for ten consecutive years and for thirty-five years teacher of the Peterson Bible class of more than fifty women, composed of the older women of the church.

The record of the Woman's Association is a proud one, not only in its promotion of fellowship among the church women but in the material aid it has given in the reconstruction of the church building. The entire kitchen equipment in the new building, which is said to be one of the most complete in western New York, reflects to the credit of the association. Besides this furnishing of the kitchen, the association has just redecorated the chapel and six years ago furnished $12,000 towards the redecorating of the church auditorium, while two years ago it remodelled the organ at an expenditure of $500, the chimes which were installed at that time being a memorial gift of Mrs. Peterson. About a year ago the name of the Woman's Association was changed to the Women's Guild and was reorganized to include the women's Missionary departments of the church. The present president of the Guild is Mrs. Warren A. Parks.

Aside from the Woman's Association of the church, four Bible classes of adult women have long been closely affiliated with the women's work. Oldest of these is the Peterson Bible class, a class of older women organized many years ago with Mrs. Taylor Shuler-Smith as teacher. In 1870 the late Mrs. Claudius L. Hoag took over the class and for nearly a quarter of a century was its teacher. Just 35 years ago Mrs. Jesse Peterson became the class teacher and four years later the Peterson Bible class was organized. The class today numbers 54 with two of the original members still active. The class has to its honor today a goodly part in the furnishing of the Ladies Parlor in the new building, the colonial mantle of old ivory, the wrought iron fireplace equipment, the table and chairs of mahogany, as well as the sixty class chairs, being the gift of the class.

Next in length of time organized is the Smith Bible classs, a class of women whose beloved teacher for many years was Mrs. E. Ashley Smith. When because of failing health Mrs. Smith was unable to continue as teacher, Mrs. B. Wheaton Clark ably filled the place; Mrs. Willis P. Weaver followed Mrs. Clark who removed from the city and when Mrs. Weaver was called to her Eternal Home, the class was fortunate in inducing Mrs. Edward G. Parker to fill the place. In time she too felt obliged to give up that part of her work and again the class was happy in securing the leadership of Mrs. Louis G. Merritt, the present teacher, whose gifts of mind are appreciated by all the members. When it was decided to build the present addition to the chapel the class pledged $1,000 to the building fund, and with the pledge cancelled, the Smith class, too, feels a personal interest in the new building.

The Ferguson Bible class has a record of 25 years to its credit, the silver anniversary of the class, with Mrs. Albert R. Ferguson teacher, soon to be celebrated. The class is largely interested in mission work, contributing much to both foreign and home objects, and it strives to uphold the spiritual rather than the social side. This class, too, has furnished its own class room in the new building, the 25 chairs, handsome rug, davenport, window drapes, table runner and harmonizing pillows making it an attractive setting for the class meetings each Sunday.

Youngest of the four adult wmen's classes is the Hildreth Bible class, organized in 1915 with an enrollment of twenty young women under the able leadership of Mrs. Charles G. Hildreth. At the present time the class has an active membership of 45. Owing to impaired health Mrs. Hildreth for the past few years has been unable to teach and her place has been most capably filled by Charles M. Cuthbert. The class subscribed generously to the building fund and is proud of the splendidly furnished room it now occupies in the new building.

It is with a feeling of genuine satisfaction that these various groups of women of the church, working together as they have, anticipate years of helpful service in the new building amid surroundings which promise to be in every way satisfying.

FORMER PASTORS OF CHURCH WILL BE AT RECEPTION

Two Ministers Accept Invitations—Some Unable To Come.

Of the five living pastors of Fir Presbyterian church only two w be able to be present on Tuesd evening. These are the Rev. Dr. A thony H. Albe Rogers, 197 Pine street during hi stay. Dr. and Mrs. Albert Evans wi be the guests of Mrs. J. Carl Jack son, 109 Niagara street.

The Rev. G. A. Papperman, D. D of Decature, Ill., was unable t come. Dr. Benjamin M. Nyce, o Glendale, California, was prevented by reason of ill health and distance However, the church hopes to hav the pleasure of seeing Mr. Norma Nyce the son of Dr. Nyce, who re sides in Buffalo and is connected with the Aeroplane Appliance Corp oration. Mr. Nyce graduated from Princeton University in 1923.

Dr. Alexander McGaffin and Mrs. McGaffin unfortunately are unable to be present. Word received from Dr McGaffin states that engagements in Elizabeth, New Jersey will prevent his coming to be with the church at this celebration.

Old Guest Book Will Be Open

An interesting feature feature of the Reception Tuesday evening will be the opportunity which will be given to all who are present to sign a guest book. This book was first used at the Thirtieth Anniversary celebration of Dr. Wisner's pastorate in 1872. The autographs of the guests upon that occasion are recorded. The book was used again in 1898 at the Seventy Fifth Anniversary of the church. It has recently been found again in going through books of the church and will be used Tuesday evening. Every one present is invited to subscribe their name in the book.

DREAM REALIZED

All Contractors Displayed Fine Spirit and Did More Than Was Required.

It would be hard for anyone to delve far into the history of the construction of the new Presbyterian church parish house and Bible school building without hearing repeated over and over again the names of four men who through fourteen months gave unstintingly of their time and ability to see the project carried to a successful termination.

Often they are referred to simply as the building committee, but their names are Charles A. Upson, Matthew A. Collins, Fred D. Morris and E. Albert Rogers. Of these Charles A. Upson is chairman.

Carrying on at times under seemingly insurmountable difficulties, these four men stuck doggedly to their task and finally, after many delays, saw the building a reality exceeding their wildest dreams, and erected at a cost within the $75,000 limit set by the congregation.

The new building had been talked of for ten years and once before in 1923, when the church celebrated its centennial, an enlargement program was launched but finally petered out and the church building was redecorated and repaired, instead.

Crowded conditions in the old structure proved a constant reminder of the need for larger and better facilities, however, and in April, 1926 a drive for funds was held. John T. Symes, John Tagg, N. R. Foster, J. J. Burtt, K. W. Strauss, F. D. Morris and A. A. Davenport comprised the committee in charge of this campaign and many others served as campaign workers. The publicity committee was: H. B. Stinson, F. J. Rooney, H. A. Nelson, R. E. Bryant, G. O. Wilson and L. E. Broeffle.

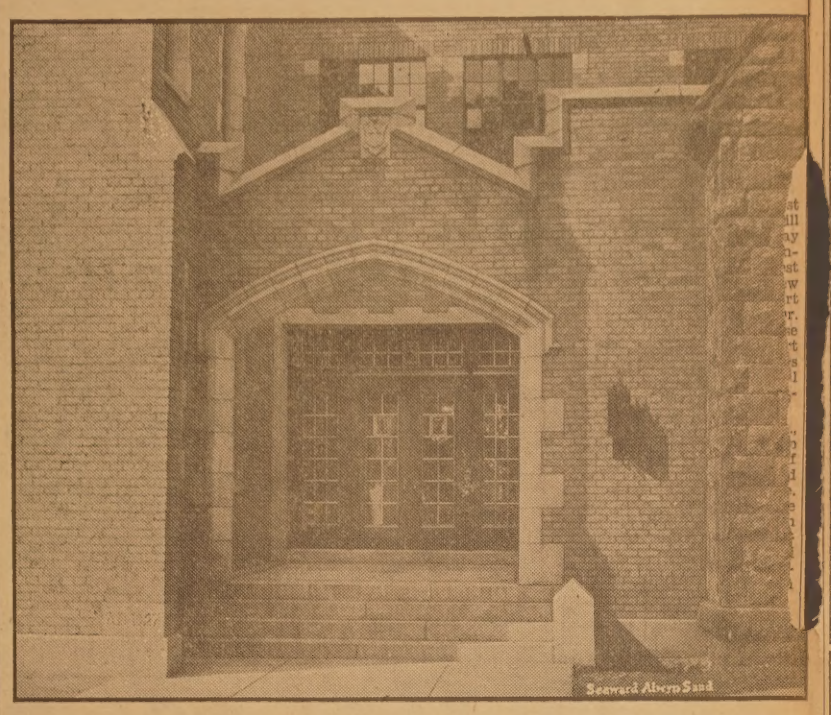
At the annual meeting the same year the congregation voted for the erection of a new building at a cost not to exceed $75,000. The building committee was appointed with full power to act, and its first move was to employ Charles A. Carpenter, architect, of Rochester, who prepared the plans and specifications.

The Bewley-Truesdale Company, of Lockport, was awarded the general contract and ground was broken early in July, 1927. Among the sub-contractors who had a part in the work were: Niagara Supply Company, Lockport, builders' supplies; W. G. Palmer, Inc., North Tonawanda, lumber and millwork; Williams Brothers, Co., Drapes and linoleum; Loube Electric Corp., Rochester, electrical fixtures; Cecil C. Carpenter, Lockport, plumbing and heating; R. S. McManus Structural Steel Company, Buffalo, structural steel; Lockport Roofing Company, Lockport, roofing; Lockport Plate and Window Glass Company, glass; Walker & Stannard, Lockport, painting; Cornelius Van Ede, landscaping.

When the work began the committee feared it would be impossible to complete the building within the $75,000 limit. Even after it was half completed, indications were that a large part of the second floor would have to be left in a semi-finished condition, but as one of the committee expressed it, every contractor did all and more than he had contracted for to make the project a success.

Some of the rooms and equipment were made possible through special gifts. These included the Junior room and intermediate department given by the Rogers family and the men's room by the Upson family. The equipment in the beginners' and primary department is a gift of H. Gardner Jackson in memory of the famous infant department conducted for so many years by his mother, Mrs. J. Carl Jackson. The Scout room is a gift of Mr. and Mrs. J. Elton Perry as a memorial to their son, the late "Jack" Perry. Miss Wilhelmina Jago gave the desk in the pastor's study. Fred D. Moyer gave the Louisa C. Moyer memorial fund and there was also a gift in memory of Frances Shapleigh. Other memorial gifts were made by the Peterson class, Ferguson class, Hildreth class and the Smith class.

Entrance To Parish House



The entrance to the new addition faces the east and is approached by a cement walk running from Church street along the south side of the church. Inside the broad and inviting archway are large oak doors, inlaid with panes of plate glass and attractively decorated.

Many Living Who Joined The Church Fifty Years Ago

The list includes Miss Ella Whitmore (1866), Mrs. Mc K. Wemple, Mrs. Jesse Peterson, Miss Jennie Parmelee (all 1867), Thomas A. Sterrett, Mrs. Robert Sterett, Frank Phillips, Mrs. John Noble, Mrs. F. B. McNeil, Mrs. James McGill, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McComb, Mrs. J. Carl Jackson, Mrs. Thomas Edwards, the Misses Draper, (all 1869, Mrs. Charles G. Carries On Family Tradition

The Reverend Stewart M. Robinson.

Some people might declare that the Rev. Stewart M. Robinson, pastor of the 1st Presbyterian Church this city, faced a family obligation when he took up his residence on this terrestrial globe, in the year of our Lord, 1893. If that be so, he has worthily lived up to his family tradition.

For in choosing his life vocation, he has followed in the paternal footsteps of three generations, his father, grandfather and great grandfather having been clergymen in the Presbyterian Church, the direct line of Genesis having originated in Scotland where Presbyterianism itself began.

And although still a young man, Mr. Robinson has been singularly fortunate in his acquiring of a broad understanding of life and its problems, a varied course in higher educational training combined with his assuming of the duties of husband and father having given him the mental outlook that should rightly be expected from a spiritual leader of a group of people.

Born in Oneida County.

Born at Clinton, Oneida county, this state, on July 21, 1893, the subject of this sketch was the son of the Rev. Courtland W. Robinson, D. D., and Mrs. Augusta Horner Robinson.

He attended the public schools of Potsdam and Syracuse, N. Y., and Philadelphia, Pa., where his father held successive pastorates, graduating from the De Lancey School, Philadelphia, in 1911, entering Princeton University that fall, and graduating from that institution of learning in 1915, with a degree of Bachelor of Arts.

The local pastor entered Princeton Theological Seminary in the fall of 1915, and graduated with the Bachelor of Divinity degree, in 1918. During his seminary course, he did graduate work in the university, and in this connection received the Master of Arts degree. On January 24th, 1918, he was ordained to the ministry.

Was Chaplain Overseas.

The World War claiming universal attention, Mr. Robinson, in the fall of 1917, entered military training at Princeton, applied for a commission in the United States army as chaplain, was called to training at Camp Taylor in April, 1918, was commissioned chaplain the following May 29th, sailed June 15th for overseas service, was there made chief chaplain of the Seventy-eighth Division of the American Expeditionary Forces, returning to America in March, 1919.

From September, 1919, to July, 1921, Mr. Robinson served as assistant pastor in Cleveland, Ohio, of first the Second Presbyterian Church, and later the Church of the Covenant, with which the Second Church was afterwards merged.

His Lockport Pastorate.

He was installed pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, this city, on November 18, 1921, and in the seven years since intervening, has seen a constant and gratifying growth in the membership, spiritual influence and prestige of the local society.

Mr. Robinson was united in marriage September 4th, 1917, to Miss Anne MacGregor Payne, of Rochester, and the union has been blessed with four children: Stewart Payne, nine years old next November; Anne MacGregor, seven years old this month; James Courtland, two years old next December; and Alexander Proudfit, born June 16th, last.

Ample opportunity here, for carrying on the good work of The Master, in still another generation. May the inclination and decision to thus serve the Kingdom, in the lineal descent of Robinsons, continue on.

Sunday School Began In Log School Hou[se]

Most Interestind Is History Rela[ted] In Connection With Presbyterian Organization.

It was not without significance that the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church first met for worship in a building used during the week as a school. With the beginning of the church is found also the beginning of the Sunday school. Some interesting items come down from those far off days over a century ago.

Early in September, 1823, in the log schoolhouse the school assembled for the first time. One of the first members was Stephen F. Gooding. The music for a number of years was the Psalms and hymns of the Watts Psalm and Hymn Book used in the church, sung to the tune of Old Hunddedth, Silver Street, Shirland, etc. Along in the forties and upon the first introduction of hymns and tunes more on the modern order, Lathrop Fellows, a son-in-law of Seth Parsons, led the singing. Saturday afternoon he used to gather the children in the basement to teach them the songs. The record remains that one lad who worked during the week nevertheless had time to commit to memory the 11th psalm in seven days and one class of girls learned by heart in six months the entire four Gospels.

Many Earn Bibles.

In 1854 Dr. Wisner offered a Bible to everyone who learned by heart the Westminster Catechism, and by April 1, 1855, one hundred had completed the task and received Bibles. In June, 1856, forty more were ready. The first superintendent was Samuel Horn, who served two years. He was succeeded by Oliver Parsons and in about two years again by William [P]arsons, superintendent for t[wen]ty-eight years. William Parso[n] left in his will a sum of money t[he] income of which has been us[ed] ever since at his request to buy bo[oks] for a library which is today hou[sed] in the new building, and which has been added to every year.

Following Mr. Parson came [J.] T. Flagler, who was superintendent from 1855 to 1879. Mr. Flagler was a man of commanding personality, a member of Congress at one time, and yet a man who maintained a great devotion to the Sunday school in spite of the pressure of public duties. Even during the trying times of the Civil war he found time to guide the school. Dr. J. W. Rosvenor succeeded him and served until 1880 when E. Ashley Sm[ith] took charge. He became the actual head of the school on January [1], 1880, and remained for many years. Among his able early days were W[illiam] Charles, James [H.] Ketchum, A. A. Ski[nner] Kilburne, C. G. Hild[reth] Clark.

In 1856 the Sunday S[chool] ized a missionary society [to] the collections went, and [it] tinued for over fifty years. school expenses were cared [for] of the budget of the church. [At] different periods during the history of the Sunday School various friends have made gifts for the work. One of the early beautiful bequests which still blesses the ministry of the school is that of Abel Minard, the income of which goes to provide clothing for children that they may come to Sunday School. John Wooster, who was for many years the librarian, went out to California, prospered there and left the school a fund which still bears his name. Another bequest made in later years was that of C. T. Raymond whose interest and devotion to school and church were unfailing.

The Bible School.

In the old brick edifice which was built in 1834 on the site of the present church space was made for the Bible School. That building was a two-story structure with a semi-basement and audience room above. This basement was the Sunday School room. When the new church was built in 1854 a Sunday School building and chapel was built out of the material of the old church. This was a two-story building, and people living still remember the Sunday [School] in that time. In 1876 the present chapel was built, the initial gift being from the will of Carrie Shuler Smith in testament of her deep affection for the work. For its day it represented the very last word in Sunday School construction. It was built on the Akron plan. As this was done in 1876 it represents a far sighted vision of Sunday School equipment. No further proof is needed of this than to say that this room with its adjacent class rooms housed the school during the period of its greatest size numerically. In 1893 there were nearly one thousand scholars enrolled in the school. This was during the pastorate of Dr. Anthony H. Evans and under the superintendency of E. Ashley Smith.

The school enjoyed a great period of prosperity and activity during the superintendency of Mr. Smith. His own indefatigable energy combined with that of his family and a large group of devoted helpers assured and were responible for this. How many names spring to our lips from out those days and somewhat later. Mr. and Mrs. B. Wheaton Clark, Mr. and Mrs. John Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Lansing, M. H. Tarbox, Mrs. A. J. Mansfield, Miss Emma McClellan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Hildreth, Mrs. W. E. McComb, Mrs. Jesse Peterson, who is still one of the most active workers in the school; George B. Thompson, Mrs. Adelaide Weaver, Chauncey Ernest H. S. Weaver in the library, and genial Will McArthur and a host of others.

Friendly Rivalry.

Who can forget the results of the time and labor, and love they lavished on this school and the activities of Children's Day with the balconies beautifully trimmed, floral arches in the aisles, and the birds singing from their cages. Christmas time with its round of activities, the Christmas program carefully worked out to the last detail of beauty and effectiveness. Then there were those good old missionary meetings in the church on Sunday evening once every quarter, when the boys and girls filled the program and the seats and awaited with eager interest the report of the treasurer as he read what each class had done, the reports of attendance and the other activities of a happy and well run Sunday School.

There always was in the school a decided but very friendly rivalry. Then there was the missionary's letter, no, no, by no means can we forget that, the length of which is doubtless remembered better than the contents by the young sinners of that day. There were the social affairs, good times they were, what good things to eat, the picnics in summer time, when whole trainloads went sometimes as far as Ontario Beach. No automobiles, no radios, no phonographs and a multitude of social duties in those days. A Sunday School affair was a real treat and everybody took it from baby in his carriage to grandfather on his crutches. The pace was not so fast then that both could not keep up with the procession. Those were fruitful days and the results are still apparent in the work and the personnel of the school as well as in the lives of hundreds of the active men and women of the city today.

Infant Department.

One of the high lights was the famous Infant Department, under the direction of Mrs. Carl Jackson. Literally hundreds of persons in the community today who are doing valuable work in all the churches, at some time were a part of that wonderful little school with-

Organization And Work Of The Church

(By The Rev. Stewart M. Robinson)

It will be of interest to most people to learn something about the organization and methods by which a church like the First Presbyterian church of this city conducts its work. Doubtless this information will be news to many members of the church itself. Under the Presbyterian system of church government the unit of organization is the Presbytery of which the various churches in any given district are members. Ultimately and theoretically the Presbytery is responsible for and in control of the individual church. Preshytery itself is made up of the various pastors of the district together with law representatives chosen by the respective churches. Presbytery also controls the ministers, admits and dismisses them, determines their status in their churches and in the Presbytery.

In practice Presbytery leaves for the most part to the individual church the running of its own affair insofar as they are in harmony with the constitution and standards of the denomination as a whole. Each church is the voluntary union of the company of professing Christians who chose to be associated together for the purposes of worship under the standards of the church. This company constitute the church, the ecclesiastical body, and they select from their number from time to time according to the method most approved among them, officers, called elders who form the Session, which is the ranking authority in each and every particular Presbyterian church. They admit and dismiss members, direct worship, have ultimate control of all the uses of the property which the church may possess.

The Session of the First Presbyterian church comprises twelve men viz.: H. B. Stinson, J. J. Burtt, A. A. Davenport, J. P. Knickerbocker, E. A. Rogers, John Tagg, W. A. Gold, T. F. Hildreth, G. O. Wilson, H. S. Weaver, J. J. Marshall, W. C. Lake.

Elders are ordained officers of the church as much as pastors, they may be delegates to the various courts of the church and are sent as commissioners. A man once ordained elder retains that office though he may cease to be active on any given Session. In the local church rotation in office is practiced with a period of 1 year required between two terms. The twelve men on the Session have each some particular and definite responsibility in connection with the work of the church, services of worship, Bible schools. ushering and reception, Communion, records, finance, all are assigned.

Deacons and Trustees.

Beside this board is that of the Deacons, also a group of ordained officers, whose historic care has been ministry to needy persons. In practice in many churches the Deacons have oversight over various other concerns of the church. The Deacons Board comprises: E. W. Averell, F. J. Hilderman, M. A. Collins, George Steffen, H. E. Long, Henry Hutchens O. N. Prudden R. J. Chase.

The third board in the church is the board of trustees. Under the American principle of the separation of church and state and in the absence of any such thing as a state church ecclesiastical bodies have to incorporate in order to become legal entities in the civil society. Hence the creation of a chartered organization known as the congregation which by law must not only embrace all communicant members but any non-communicants who may come to the church and contribute to its support. The body elects Trustees who are the custodians of the property of the church, holders of funds, distributors of contributions, and under the direction of the church handle the material affairs of the church. The Board of Trustees is made up of W. H. Upson, Jr., R. E. Bryant, F. D. Morris, B. H. Grigg, L. A. Lewis, G. L. Pugh, W. W. Whitmore, E. H. Huber, D. S. Moore.

The Bible Schools.

Besides these three boards which make up the chief avenues of expression by which the church undertakes to govern and direct its energies, there are many voluntary groupings of people in the church for various purposes. These are all under the general direction of the Session and subject to their control. The principal branch of church life is in the Bible schools. In Log School House Sunday School Began in a school. They met upstairs on the balcony of the chapel in space which is now used for class-rooms for the young peoples' department and which until this Fall was still used for the children's departments. But the arrangement was different in those days. There were banks of seats rising one above the other in which the little folks sat while Mrs. Jackson conducted the department.

Gifted with a most perfect sense of spiritual proportion Mrs. Jackson was able to mingle the good and the pleasant in such a palatable mixture that children delighted in the church. She was in advance of her time, demonstrating much of what the experts of today advocate. She was perhaps not so much in advance of her time as in step with the Great Teacher who called the children to Him.

Another high light of those days was a smaller but no less remarkable group of boys which Mrs. Anthony Evans gathered around her radiant personality. Ethel Kelsey Evans came here as a bride and took up a class of boys. In the words of one of them: "We were just a bunch of tough average kids." Through four happy years these boys grew apace, and worshipped not only the good things she gave them, but also the teacher herself. Incarnated as the graces of Christianity were in her, they sprang by contagion into the minds and hearts of her boys, and most of them today give to her memory the thanks for much that is high and fine in their lives.

A beautiful bronze tablet has been placed in the old class-room (middle room off chapel down-stairs), the gift of a group of her boys in loving memory of her.

Twenty-five years' Service.

E. Ashley Smith continued as superintendent until he retired on account of ill health in 1905 after 25 years of service. His interest, however, never lagged and so long as his strength permitted he was constantly in and about the school during its sessions.

For a time Dr. McGaffin, then pastor of the church, acted as superintendent of the school, until he persuaded John J. Burtt to take hold of the reins. Mr. Burtt gave several years of wonderful service to the school and the impress of his fine and wonderful spirit is still felt in many places.

He was followed by Judge (then plain Mister) W. A. Gold, who for many years had carried on a wonderfully successful work in Gardner Chapel, a child of the First Church. Mr. Gold put his unusual energy into this work and his winning personality made him especially loved by the children for whom he has always had the greatest affection. But his old love called insistently to him and so after two years he returned to Gardner Chapel, to take up again the splendid work which he is carrying on to this day.

He was succeeded in 1913 by E. A. Rogers, who continued as superintendent until 1922. He was succeeded by N. R. Foster, who devoted his talents and great energy to the school for a period of three years, being followed by H. B. Stinson, whose intense personal interest in the school and its members is still continued as Associate Superintendent. E. A. Rogers again became General Superintendent in 1927. The work of the school in these current years is too familiar in the minds of people to need comment, except to say that they have retained and carried forward the high standards and best traditions of the school. From this past comes much of the strength and success of the school and the future will owe it much.

Lives of Service.

The school has played a role in the community and farther. It has influenced the lives of countless numbers of boys and girls who are now contributing to the spiritual as well as to the material life of the community. It has reached far beyond the confines of merely local limits. In nearly every State and even in regions beyond the message it brought to those of tender years is being expressed in lives of service, It has sent forth its ministers and missionaries, and the professional and business world has been enriched by its product. The world is better because of it. It has set up ideals, it has maintained standards, it has made records which are the inspiration of the present organization, and upon which it stands as foundation.

It is equipped today as never before to do even more good. With the new addition the school is housed in a way which meets of the needs of the day. The children in the Beginners and Primary Departments have an ideal place in which to work out the best methods for them. The Church has fitted itself to the times when the homes of people are more attractive and convenient. The new department in church religious education made possible by the establishment of the week-day religious school has almost revolutionized the whole conception of Sunday School work, by suggesting more scientific standards and methods, greater efforts at definite instruction, a more consistent and thorough course of study For these grades the church has provided the very latest of equipment. Children work now in the religious school. They actually study, they are examined, and pass tests. They have desks, blackboards, trained teachers, these are all provided under the present program of the First Presbyterian Sunday School.

For Young People.

The Young Peoples' Department has been given one whole section of the church edifice for their own use on Sundays. The chapel with all its adjacent rooms has been completely redecorated and improved for their use. In this department a large number are already enrolled and the work gives every promise of increasing rapidly. The Junion-Intermediate Group is already larger than anticipated, but special arrangements have been made. The children and young people are responding to these efforts made on their behalf in a way which is most exhilerating. They have a keen interest in and appreciation for spiritual and moral values, when they see an effort made to interpret them in terms that they can understand.

The school begins its work this fall with every hope for a greatly enlarged sphere of service. Hundreds are yet unreached. New scholars continue to pour in. As old Dr. Wisner said when he saw the 1854 edifice finished, "What a wonderful workshop to serve God in."

STILL EXPLODES, ONE DEAD.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Oct. 8 (AP)—An alleged operator of a still was injured fatally here during the night when an explosion wrecked the still and the resulting fire burned a remodeled barn housing the apparatus. The man, Tony Sissinni, 34, was blown through a window and died a few hours later. The man, conscious before his death, refused to talk.

Donato Siniele told police he owned the property and rented the barn to a man whose name was unknown to him.

Niagara Moderator Invited As Guest

Among the specially invited guests at the reception and open house which the First Presbyterian church will hold Tuesday evening, October 9, will be the Rev. Gordon Newfang, moderator of Niagara Presbytery and the pastor of the Lewiston Presbyterian Church. Mr. Newfang is a successor in the line of the Rev. David Smith, founder and first pastor of the local church.

TEXTILE STRIKE OF 25 WEEKS IS ENDED

Thousands Of Workers Today Returned To Work At Wage Reduction.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 8 (AP)—A general reopening of textile mill gates today saw thousands of operatives returning to work after a strike which lasted 25 weeks in protest against a 10 per cent wage reduction. The strike ended on Saturday with acceptance by the unions represented in the textile council of a compromise under which wages are reduced five per cent and the manufacutrers agree to give thirty days notice of any proposed wage cut in the future.

The textile mill committees, radical organization which was active in picketing throughout the strike and which has no connection with the textile council, opposed the settlement. At a mass meeting yesterday members of this organization uttered threats of trouble-making today.

These threats materialized only to the extent of gatherings of textile mill committees' adherents in the vicinity of the mills where they resisted police attempts to break up their ranks. As a result 27 arrests were made.

Figures indicating the exact number of operatives who were employed this morning were slow in being tabulated. Early reports revealed the number would be perhaps not more than 20 per cent.

Rust on some of the machinery was a factor here and there, but plenty of loom fixers and machinists were on hand to put them in shape.

Lack of orders after the long shut down was a big factor in the gradual start. Officials were reluctant to resume operations too rapidly without first providing a market for their output.

Faith Healing May Get O. K. Of Church

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (AP) — Faith healing would be given the official stamp of approval of the Protestant Episcopal Church under a resolution prepared by a special committee on that subject which will be submitted to the general convention of the church at its opening meeting, Wednesday.

Theological schools, the resolution as prepared says, should be asked to "take notice of this widespread belief in the efficacy of prayer as an expression of a living rather than a formal faith. The popular attitude towards misfortune in all its forms as being a visitation by God for punishment for sin is no longer a universal belief, but is rapidly being displaced by a belief that such misfortunes are man-induced conditions which are hindrances to God's will."
